Andrews Federal Credit Union Supports Young Service Members Through Airmen's Attic Donation

Suitland, MD (May 21, 2009) – Andrews Federal Credit Union donated $500 to the Airmen's Attic on Andrews Air Force Base. The donation was presented to SMSgt. John Flynn, President of the Andrews First Sergeant's Council.

The First Sergeant's Council sponsors the Airmen's Attic which provides food, clothing, furniture and other essential supplies to service members experiencing financial difficulties. Enlisted personnel, E5 and below, from any branch of the service can receive free items from the Airmen's Attic.

"Donations are high during the holiday season when everyone is in a charitable mood. However, there are fewer donations during the spring and summer months so we thought it was the best time to really help out our service members." says Rosalind Bishop, Andrews Federal Andrews Air Force Base Branch Manager. "The Airmen's Attic is a great resource for the Andrews Air Force Base community. As a member of this community we want ensure that our service members get what they need."
