Andrews Federal Credit Union Provides Financial Education at DC Community Events

Suitland, MD (May 29, 2009) – During the month of May, Andrews Federal Credit Union participated in four community events, providing financial education and that reached over 400 teens, adults and business owners.

Andrews Federal conducted a Teens & Money financial literacy workshop at the Sasha Bruce Youthwork, Inc. Youth Fair on Saturday, May 9th. Participants visiting the Andrews Federal display table were given information on saving, investing, budgeting, checking, and credit.

Andrews Federal also attended the Congresswoman Eleanor Holmes Norton Small Business Access to Capital Fair on Wednesday, May 13th. There, Andrews Federal dispensed information on managing small business finances and also opened accounts.

On May 14th and May 15th, educational outreach events were held at the Eagle Academy Public Charter School Spring Jamboree in Southeast, Washington, DC and at the Cesar Chavez Public Charter School Community Fair in Northeast, Washington, DC. Andrews Federal was on hand to answer questions about financial issues and to open accounts.

“Andrews Federal is very active in the DC community,” says Tameyka Whitney, Andrews Federal DC Community Development Officer. “We attend these events to give back to the communities who support us and we try to help DC residents gain the tools they need to achieve their financial dreams.
