Andrews Federal Credit Union Adopts "Angels" from Local Angel Tree Programs

Suitland, MD (December 18, 2008) – Andrews Federal Credit Union (Andrews Federal) adopted ninety (90) children from the Angel Tree programs in the local communities. During November and early December, staff members bought Christmas gifts for forty (40) children in the D.C. Metropolitan Area, through the Salvation Army, whose families needed help for the holidays. The Andrews Federal European Region adopted fifty (50) angels through the Army Community Service. Both staff and base community members were involved in purchasing holiday gifts.

Gifts collected included bikes, skateboards, scooters, dolls, electronic games, board games, dolls, coats, clothes, shoes, sports items, and many other toys.

"We are happy that we were able to help so many families who are in need this holiday season," says Suzanne Curren, Andrews Federal Director of Member Education. "Our staff and members really pitched in and made this a very successful event."
